

Current Affairs Club Holds Forum on China

• "CAN THERE BE Democracy in China?" will be the topic of a forum sponsored by the Current Affairs Club tomorrow night at 8 p.m., in Government 2. Dr. Freda Utley and Herbert K. Abrams, M. D., will be the speakers of the evening.

Dr. Utley, member of the Advisory Council of the Department of Politics, Princeton University, went to Russia in 1930, and lived there until 1938.

In 1938 she traveled to China as a correspondent for the London News Chronicle and subsequently lectured in the United States. She returned to China in October, 1945 as a reporter for the Reader's Digest and stayed until March, 1946.

About her book, Japan's Feet of Clay, the New York Times said, "a long overdue book . . . so well and thoroughly documented it should be read by all who are interested in getting at the roots of what is happening in the world today."

Pearl Buck wrote of Dr. Utley's book on Russia, "This is one of the richest books I have ever read . . . the truth about Russian Communism is here. For clear, reasoned, impregnable revelation of the modern Russian state, this book surpasses any I have yet read."

Miss Utley has spoken on the American Forum of the Air from Washington and on other coast-to-coast radio programs, including Columbia's Invitation to Learning.

Dr. Abrams, at present with Johns Hopkins University, served as a major in the Army Medical Corps during the war and was assigned to UNRRA in China. During the two years he spent in Shantung Province, Dr. Abrams made four trips to Communist China.

School of the Air Features Students On CBS Program

• THE CBS "School of the Air" featured four students from the University on a coast-to-coast hook-up last Friday afternoon. Agar Jaicks, representing the "Typical Veteran Student"; Hal Harrison, president of the Veterans Club; Virginia Young from the School of Government; and Miriam Shroeder from the Medical School discussed the subject, "Whom does your congressman represent?"

Points discussed were the "out-moded seniority system" of chairmanship appointments, the best background for a congressman, and whether he should vote by conscience, party belief, pressure groups, or the wishes of his constituents. Dr. J. C. Caruthers of the CBS School of the Air was chairman of the program, and summed up the points of the speakers.

Also appearing on the program were Retiring Congressman Voorhees, from Los Angeles County, California, and Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Government Dean Views Expansion

• DR. ARTHUR BURNS, Acting Dean of the School of Government, has announced that the school is undergoing a period of great expansion and that within one year the total enrollment is expected to be at least doubled.

Students enrolled in the Division of Special Students, while taking courses in the School of Government, add several hundred to the three hundred and fifty actually enrolled in the school at the present time.

Although most emphasis is placed by the school on its graduate work, undergraduate curricula are offered in foreign affairs, government and economic policy, public administration, and statistics. Of these, foreign affairs has the largest enrollment.

Honorary Fraternity Selects 11

Phi Beta Kappa Taps Three Men And Eight Women

• ELEVEN GEORGE Washington University students have been elected members of the University Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship fraternity. The members were selected from juniors and seniors with distinguished intellectual achievement in the field of liberal arts and sciences.

A veteran, Robert C. Ludwig, is among those selected. He was with a special engineering detachment at Los Alamos, N. M., from September 1944 to February 1946. A physics major, he is a member of Sigma Nu Social Fraternity, the Men's Glee Club, and received the James McBride Sterret Medal in first year physics.

Jean C. Prichard, who was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the senior class, was also selected. President of Pi Beta Phi Social Sorority, she is a member of Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service sorority, the Cherry Tree staff, Delphi (honorary sorority for outstanding fraternity women), and received the Delta Theta Botany Award in 1944.

Margaret Prichard, economics major, was also elected. She is a member of Phi Pi Epsilon, Pi Gamma Mu (social science honor society), and of Delphi.

Others selected include Clarke Davidson, Gloria Halpern, Harden McConnell, Mary Mosler, Marion Wolley, Loretta Eastman Scott, Marie J. LeClair, and Marjorie I. Clark.

Federation Collects Christmas Cards

• DISCARDED CHRISTMAS cards are being collected by the Save The Children Federation in New York City to be sent to underprivileged country schools for use by their pupils in art work.

A. E. Smith of the Comptrollers Office, announces that he will collect cards from people in this vicinity and send them to New York. The cards, without envelopes, may be taken to his office in Room 11 of Corcoran Hall.

Final Examinations Start January 20

• DATES OF January 20 through January 29 have been set for the final examination period. Certain classes have not yet had rooms assigned, but this detail will be handled by the instructors involved. Schedule of examinations will be found in this issue, on pages four and five.

Vets Club Names Committee Heads

• NEW COMMITTEE heads were approved at a special meeting of the Veterans Club held on December 17.

Agar Jaicks was elected chairman of activities; Frank Eichenlaub, ways and means; and Walt Mitkowski, publicity.

Charles Hergenrather was appointed to succeed Zebb Harris as house manager of the clubhouse. A unanimous vote to retain the present set-up for the house management was recorded.

Vet Poll Shows Startling Results

GI Bill Works No Miracles, Poll Shows; Vets Would Go To College With or Without

By JOHN BURKE

• CONTRARY TO THE BELIEFS of many authorities, the average ex-GI would be enrolled in universities regardless of the famous Bill of Rights, according to a recent poll conducted here among all veteran students by Dr. Mitchell Dreese, head of the University's Veteran Education Division.

Approximately 78 per cent of the 4,903 vets who returned the questionnaires stated they would seek advanced education on their own were it not for the GI Bill. Only 12 per cent believed they would not have continued their education without it, and 10 per cent were uncertain.

Commenting on the startling results of the survey, Dr. Dreese asserted that "the figures might be disconcerting to some people who think the GI Bill works miracles." However, he hastened to add that a substantial number of students who under any circumstances would go to college by the benefits are insured a complete college education.

Believing that this is the first survey of its kind to be conducted in the country, Dr. Ralph McDonald, National Education Association official, stated that a majority of veterans in other colleges throughout the country probably would have a similar opinion in the matter.

Other figures obtained from the poll show that service experience had little to do with the average student veteran's outlook and ambitions, for only 816 of the 4,903 went on record as being influenced by either service training or occupations. Almost seventy-five per cent of the veterans feel certain they were not influenced in any way by previous experience in Uncle Sam's forces.

But not all the questions submitted to the vets on registration day last fall were quite so serious as this.

Take for example "why did you come to George Washington?" No doubt we've all wondered at some time or other why the Student Club is generally packed, why three classes each fill Lisner Auditorium, or in short, why there are 8000,

Snapshot Contest Ends January 10

• JANUARY 10 marks the close of the snapshot contest sponsored by the Student Book Store. Prizes of $15 and $10 will be given for the two best pictures, which will be printed in the Cherry Tree.

Photographs should be submitted to Marilyn Schenck, Strong Hall, or to the Cherry Tree Office, Building M. Name, address, and telephone number of the person submitting the picture must be on the back of each entry. Only glossy prints will be accepted.

Judge for the contest will be White House photographer Abbie Rowe.

7,500 Enroll In Two-Day Registration

• APPROXIMATELY 7,500 students now attending the University registered for the winter term on January 2 and 3, Registrar Burnice Jarman announced this week.

He explained that this was about the number of old students the University had anticipated would register. Another 1,000 students, mostly upperclassmen, now enrolled at the University are expected to register with the new students on January 30. This means that close to 2,000 new students will be admitted.

Dr. Jarman said he felt that "on the whole the pre-registration was successful. The adding of many new sections, especially in the science departments, was carried out efficiently." Although there were some conflicts in trying to register for certain courses, he said that he hoped a similar procedure with some refinements would be followed in registering for the summer and fall terms.

A similar registration program for new students is now being worked out by the Registrar's Office and the Junior College. Dr. Jarman stated that they are attempting to combine former methods of registration so as to maintain both the advisory system and speed in registering.

Registration for Law School students will be held during the final examination period.

Equipment Campaign Gets Start

Lisner Broadcast Inaugurates Drive For Hospital Fund

• A THREE DAY campus drive to raise $11,000 for the University Hospital Equipment Fund Campaign will be launched tomorrow with a rally at noon.

Funds obtained during the three day period will be donated to the new hospital fund which seeks to raise a total of $925,000 to equip the new building under construction on Washington Circle.

Broadcast From Lisner

Tomorrow evening the Campaign's community-wide drive will be inaugurated with a half hour broadcast from Lisner Auditorium at 8:15 when the Capital Transit Company's regular weekly program will be devoted to a dramatization of the University's 125 years of service to the community and the country.

The student rally will open with selections by the University Band at Lisner Terrace. Following a brief introduction, Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant, III, retired, Chairman of the hospital Equipment Fund Campaign, will address the gathering explaining the purpose of the fund and pointing out the "Partnership" theme of the campaign.

Booths To Be Erected

Miss Virginia Kirkbride and Mr. Max Farrington, directors of Women's and Men's activities for the University, will direct the campus drive. Under plans set forth, student workers during the rally week will wear small aprons with the campaign theme "Be a Partner" written across them. Funds will be collected at a number of booths to be erected on the campus proper. In the center of the area will be a huge barometer which will give the daily progress of the campaign.

Finances Solved; Grind at Printers

• DELAYED FOR ONE month because of the difficulty in meeting operating and printing expenses, the new University humor magazine, The Grind, will make its first appearance on the campus this month, Sherie Simon, acting editor, announced today.

The January issue is now at the printers and the exact date of publication has not yet been determined.

Working in the cramped quarters of the acting editor in lieu of an office of their own, the staff has turned out material which they believe should place The Grind on a par with the better magazines of its kind.

Annuals Available

• ABOUT THREE DOZEN last year's Cherry Trees are available to fraternities, sororities, and others who did not receive copies. They may be purchased by contacting Larry Woodward at Jackson 1515-J. The price is $3.00 each.

Bittersweet Sorrow

• THIS BEING OUR last issue as an editor of The Hatchet, we would like to present a few of our views, favorable—and otherwise—about matters that we feel merit attention.

First, we would like to commend Dr. Jarman for reinstating the pre-registration system. With a little more work, the flaws that appeared this time could be ironed out by next semester.

We also feel that "Sparkle" and the members of Cue and Curtain have done an exceptionally fine job in their first two productions of the year. We hope that the forthcoming musical will maintain this high caliber.

Margaret Davis of the Public Relations Office deserves a great deal of credit for her efficiency in cooperating with both the down-town papers and the University on publicity matters.

The Homecoming Committee, under the leadership of Bob Flanders and Diana Roosevelt, did an excellent job with our first Homecoming celebration in many years.

Student Council Advocate Larry Woodward and the Elections Committee should also be commended on their competent work in conducting class elections.

But most of all, we would like to commend the student body on its discovery of school spirit. We are very glad at last to be rid of that much-used word "lethargy."

And now—the other side of the picture.

Heading our list of unpleasant memories are campaign promises that have not been kept, outstanding of which are "lockers for all students" and "an expanded activities program for night students."

Next on our list is the Student-Faculty committee. This group started out with many good ideas, but after holding numerous meetings, has accomplished nothing of major proportions.

We feel that something should be done immediately about the University's maintenance department. Conditions in all of the buildings, as well as in Strong Hall, are deplorable.

Although certain of its principles may be worthwhile, we feel that A. V. C. has gone about getting things in the wrong way. Where it might have gained the good-will and assistance of many students, it has instead created many antagonists.

With the renovations in the Student Club, we think that some arrangements should be made to keep it open a little later for the benefit of night students and on Saturday mornings.

Formula For Flunking

And as our final thought, we hope that some day in the very near future, the Administration will see its way clear to building a Student Union, either through the activity fee or any other possible means.

—N. H.

Letters to the Editors

Dear Editors:

• IN YOUR LAST issue of The Hatchet (volume 43, number 12), under the heading "Strickland Says Marvin Promises Country's Finest Student Union," you published the statement to the effect that I advised that "the University would see to it that the largest and best equipped student union in the country would be built here." It is true that President Marvin and myself discussed a student union committee several months ago, and we both agreed that if we did build one it should be the best in the country. But President Marvin in no way guaranteed that any student union would be built. It is also very misleading in saying that "the forerunner of the proposed activity fee was a conference held with Dr. Marvin" etc. The conference had nothing to do with the activity fee.

I can not understand from what source you secured this misleading bit of information. It is true that I have mentioned my conference with President Marvin to both the Student Council and the Student Union Committee, but at no time did I say that the largest and best, or any student union will be built here. I trust that you will correct this mistake in your next issue.

Sincerely,

(Ed. Note—It was assumed by the two members of The Hatchet to whom Mr. Strickland gave the story in question that his post as an officer in the journalism fraternity qualified him sufficiently to know that there is a certain percentage of interpretation necessary in the reporting of any story. Since Mr. Strickland gave this story separately to a member of the Board of Editors and a member of the Sub-Editorial Board, both of whom gleaned an identical impression, our assumption can be only that it is Mr. Strickland who erred in his presentation of the facts, rather than The Hatchet's having erred in the reporting of them.)

• IF YOU ENJOYED Summers' and Suverkrup's gentle parody on "The Hat," you weren't the only one. Miss Cassini was practically in hysterics about it—we know, since we have her own word for it. The Public Relations Office has been kind enough to forward the following letter from Miss Cassini:

Thank you for your thoughtfulness in sending me the clipping from the George Washington University paper.

I appreciated fully the humor conveyed by both the pictures and the poem.

Perhaps I ought to make a try, myself, at writing some poetry sometime! Maybe it would make a bigger hit than the hats!

Anyway, I laughed as hard as anybody else—and again thanks for calling it to my attention!

Sincerely,

Austine Cassini

Dear Editors:

• THE IDEA OF building a student union is undoubtedly an excellent one. The opportunity to exploit veterans indirectly through an increased activity fee will never again be quite so convenient. The fact that an "organizational plebiscite" unearthed the commendable

Have You Met—

JIM PUGHE

• SENIOR CLASS President Jim Pughe is almost unique at the University in coming from Colorado—the municipality of Craig, to be specific. Leading a quiet life there through high school, he enrolled in 1939 at the Colorado School of Mines.

Seeking the refined and astral atmosphere of Washington, Jimmy trekked eastward to the University, his older brother's Alma Mater. Here for two years, he then entered the Civilian Pilot Training program early in 1942, and transferred to the Navy as a cadet in July of that year. And in May of 1943, Jimmy got his wings in the Marine Corps.

Of his many experiences in the Pacific, he modestly says only that he "went overseas in September of '43 and came back in December of '44." During his overseas service, he was a fighter pilot, and upon his return to the states, he was trained as a night fighter pilot, but before returning to the battle fronts, was discharged in January of 1946.

The lure of the University was imminent, so back to his Washington friends in time for the February semester of last year came Jimmy. Since that time he's become active in University activities, including Sigma Alpha Epsilon, for which he's Inter-Fraternity Delegate; Delta Phi Epsilon, the foreign service honorary, of which he's program chairman; and his recently attained post of senior class president.

Jim passes his time now with these activities, and flying in the organized reserves. Other primary loves of his life are basketball, football, track, and Libby.

generosity of a small, I repeat and amend, very small, and unrepresentative portion of the student body elicits considerable surprise, for this was simply a matter of putting the question before its most likely advocates.

The supposition that the building itself will be erected in time for the current student body's children to enjoy is unavoidable, considering the critical shortages of materials in the building trades.

The question that cannot be dismissed from mind is why the school should not dig down in its accelerating bank balance, (now, now, the only real difference in expenses around here, and these are commensurate with the size of the student body, are several additional instructors, increased utility and stationery bills, etc.), inasmuch as the school is still making money as it indubitably should.

The supposition that veterans have enough leeway with a $500 allowance per school year to be able to afford increased activity fees (to build permanent structures for the university proper) is highly untenable, primarily because everyone connected with the huge sums of money dispensed under Public Laws 16 and 346 should have a desire to obtain (and give) the most possible for the amounts spent by the United States to further the education of its citizenry who are veterans. The premise that this will be done by investing more money in an activity fee that evidently is now sufficient to cover current operating costs seems a bit far-fetched when you stop to think that for the difference between the amounts in question you can also purchase several textbooks of more intrinsic and lasting value to the present students.

The opinion that because veterans don't actually see their educational allowance they don't care what becomes of it is unsound, for it is a well-established fact that most veterans are here for an education and not to participate in "Joe College rah-rah" activities. The gist of this article is: I am one of the thousands not in favor of an increased activity fee and refuse to remain mute.

Sincerely,

Edward E. Rousar.

Teachers Assemble For Exams

• EIGHTH ANNUAL National Teachers Examination given by the American Council on Education will be held at the University, February 8 and 15. A previous report that the examinations would be held at Wilson Teachers College is incorrect, stated Arthur A. Hoppe, assistant professor of education, who will serve as local examiner.

The Common Examinations, taken by all candidates, will be given on February 8. These include sections on reasoning, comprehension, expression, general culture, and general professional information.

Examinations for specialized teaching areas, known as Optional Examinations, will be given in elementary education, English, social science, Spanish, industrial education, and other specialized fields on February 15.

Full-time college students will receive reduced student rates of $3.00 for the Common Examinations and $1.50 for either one or two of the Optional Examinations. Regular candidates will pay $5.00 for the Common Examinations and $2.50 for the Optional Examinations.

All applications for these examinations must be submitted to Mr. Hoppe at the School of Government before Saturday, January 11. Late applications may be accepted after January 11 upon special approval of Professor Hoppe and payment of a late registration fee of $2.50.

Professor Hoppe urges both graduate and undergraduate students in education to take the National Teacher Examinations. A consideration of performance on these tests is now an established part of the evaluation of all undergraduates in the reorganized program of the School of Education at the University.

More than 300 school systems use the results of these tests as one factor in the selection of teachers for their schools.

Arthur and Polly Serve Students Hospitably

By RAY GLASSCOCK

• "I HAVE TO interrupt you, maybe," Polly warned, as we sat down to begin our interview. "Arthur is keeping an appointment with the dentist."

In the ensuing quarter hour, we gleaned various facts from Polly about the adventures of herself and her spouse, and the events which led up to their purchase of The G. W. Food Shoppe a little more than a year ago.

This establishment, known by the above name, and as "Arthur's," "Polly's," "Arthur's and Polly's," "Otto's," and "George's" (the last from the former owner), is fast becoming the University's favorite luncheon spot. Located on G Street opposite the Hall of Government, The Food Shoppe is almost unique in these parts in that the food is good, reasonably priced, sanitariously prepared, and pleasantly served.

Polly and Arthur Michaels are natives of Germany. In 1938 they left their homeland, for reasons not too difficult to understand. The following two years were spent in France and Belgium. During that time Arthur worked as chef at the restaurant of George Hochedez in Brussels, one of the more famous continental restaurants.

In 1941, they sailed, along with their two children, from Marseilles on the Duc d'Aumale, first to Martinique, then to the United States.

"When we arrived in New York," Polly told us, "The photographer took me and the two girls aside and photographed us. I had no idea why, but on the day we arrived in Washington we found our picture in the local newspaper."

Arthur cooked at the Shoreham for four years; then in November of 1945, he and Polly ventured out on their own at the Food Shoppe. Since that time, they've come to be great favorites of the several hundred students who regularly meet there for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Polly recently was sworn in as a citizen of the United States, which made both of them quite happy, except for Arthur's perplexity over the citizenship status of their child. (See FOOD SHOPPE Page 8)

Hatchet Suspends As Exams Impend

• ASSUMING THAT University students and faculty alike will be laboring under the same strain which has beset the Hatchet office under the shadow of impending examinations, we are suspending publication with this issue. With fingers crossed, and good luck to all, we bid a hopeful farewell till our next issue appears on February 4.

Nancy Hanck Leaves Hatchet Editorial Board

• NANCY HANCK will retire, effective with this issue, from her post on the Hatchet Board of Editors, which she has held for one year, the limit of tenure stipulated by the Hatchet Constitution.

Appointed last February, Editor Hanck previously served as News Editor and Society Editor on the Hatchet.

Dorothy Henry and Mervin Lewis will remain co-editors on the Editorial Board, while Rusty Schiff will remain as Business Manager. No appointment will be made to fill the vacancy on the Board.

Changes on the sub-editorial board have been announced by the Editors. Ray Glasscock has replaced Jim Pugh as News Editor; Edward Shapiro has been appointed Sports Editor and Manuel Avenca Intra-Mural Sports Editor.

Promotions to the senior staff during the semester include Bob Reardon, Bob Flanders, Jeanne Heimann, Charles Lillen, Evelyn Schoelen, Virginia Myers, Sandy McKeel, Kay Christoph, Louis Munan, and Leigh Curry.

VA Changes Hours

• THE VETERANS Administration announced that until further notice evening hours between 6 and 8 p.m. have been discontinued.

Regular office hours, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, remain the same.

Thespians Cast New Musical

• TRYOUTS FOR Cue and Curtain's third production, an original musical comedy, will be held on tomorrow and Thursday of this week at 8:30 p.m. in Studio A of Lisner Auditorium.

The production, tentatively titled "Ladies in Hades," was written by Floyd L. Sparks, Director of Cue and Curtain, with additional dialogue by Jay Carmody, drama critic of the Washington Star. George Bishop, a former student of the University who has just been released from the Army, wrote the musical score.

Choreography will be planned by Elizabeth Burtner and performed by her dance groups. The costumes are to be designed by Dorothy Croissant, well known Washington designer. Henry C. Pearson, who is currently working on sets for Air Forces films, will direct the settings.

Preliminary rehearsals for this production will start immediately, but will be discontinued through the final examination period, and resumed at the beginning of the second semester.

Any student registered in the University and maintaining a 2.00 average is eligible to participate. Of particular interest to Mr. Sparks are dancers and jugglers. Also of importance are solo and chorus singers as well as specialty entertainment acts.

"Ladies in Hades" will be given March 5, 6, 7 and 8.

Colonials Face Busy Week On Court

TAKE IT FROM ME

By EDDIE SHAPIRO

• A FEW YEARS ago, the military school I attended in Virginia, boasted a baseball pitcher, Robert Savage, reputed to be the finest scholastic hurler in the South.

On the eve of a big game against a neighboring college club we were informed that a group of big league baseball scouts were on hand to see Bob perform, and that he was likely to be offered a contract by several of these men if he turned in a creditable performance. As the game got under way and Bob took the mound, he looked every bit the part of a major league pitcher, exhibiting amazing control, speed, and the finesse of an old timer. When the game ended he walked off the field with a shutout to his credit, one of the finest performances ever seen on a Virginia diamond.

It didn't take the scouts long to seek out Bob's coach, with lucrative offers for the hurler's signature on a contract. Their only answer, however, was that Bob intended to enter college the following year and would not be available to the big leagues for another four seasons.

Shortly thereafter one of the scouts approached the coach with the offer of a cash bonus for talking Bob out of going to college, whereupon the scout was shown the nearest exit.

Such practices are not unusual, however, and are becoming more of a problem every year.

The time has now come for colleges and universities to take steps against the big money promoters who are using such unscrupulous tactics to lure young men from schools.

Recently a protest was made to baseball commissioner "Happy" Chandler over the hiring of collegiate diamond stars by professional baseball clubs. Mr. Chandler merely ignored the protest, however, in a very contemptful and undiplomatic manner.

The National Professional Football League has a rule against employing collegiate athletes, but so strictly do they abide by this rule that a few years ago a bright young star was taken right off of this campus by the local National League team, although he had two years of eligibility left at this school.

Last season the new York Giants employed DeWitt Coulter, a former West Point cadet, who had been dismissed from the academy because of academic deficiencies. Coulter had another year of collegiate eligibility, and supposedly could not play in the National Football League under their own rules.

It is an accepted fact that the majority of college athletes would be unable to attend school were it not for their athletic scholarships. When a professional scout is permitted to offer these men contracts of from five to twenty thousand dollars per season plus bonuses, it is obvious that the majority will answer

New Coach Will Tutor Tankmen

• THE UNIVERSITY announced this week that it had secured Elmer R. Hipsley, former national Life Guard and AAU Breast Stroke champion, to coach the newly formed swimming team.

Mr. Hipsley, who for the last few years has been the director of the National Professional Life Guard School here in Washington, has already taken charge of the squad and has been holding practice sessions every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights from eight to nine p.m. at the "G" St. Y.M.C.A.

Since there is apparently nothing in the Southern Conference rules which limits swimming competition to male students, several co-eds are trying out for the team in addition to seventeen men.

The lateness of the squad in getting started has caused much difficulty in the formulation of a schedule. At present only one meet, with Virginia Tech, has been definitely arranged, but several others with North Carolina, Navy, and Virginia are tentative.

Although competition with other Southern Conference schools is planned for this season, the Buff swimmers do not plan to compete for the loop championship. There is a chance, however, that they will appear in the Conference Tournament in March.

Mr. Hipsley is very optimistic over his chances for a winning season, but he is still looking for some good material. Any student interested in trying out for the squad should contact either Mr. Hipsley or team captain Paul Zipser as soon as possible at the Athletic Office.

Kings Point Furnishes Rugged Test Tonight

• WITH A RECORD of five wins and one defeat behind them in pre-holiday battles, the Colonials take the floor at 8:30 p. m. tonight in the Tech gymnasium, heavily favored to turn in victory number six over the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy.

Following tonight's encounter, the Zahnmen will face the Naval Academy at Annapolis tomorrow afternoon, Maryland University at College Park Friday night, Georgetown at Uline Arena on the 13th, and the powerful Duke Blue Devils at Durham, N. C., on the 16th, before taking a ten-day recess for exams. They resume play against Virginia on the 27th at Charlottesville.

Fans tonight will see two teams schooled in the Colonial style of basketball. Bill Reinhart, Kings Point coach, will always be remembered by G. W. fans as one of the greatest figures in the school's athletic history. It was during his reign that Colonial court teams rose to national prominence, being rated year after year among the nation's finest teams. So far this season his team has racked up five wins over American U., Catholic U., Queens College, Adelphi, and William and Mary, while losing to Columbia, Yale and Army.

Although the Buffmen are not in top physical condition, Coach Zahn refuses to take pessimistic attitude over the five tough games his charges must play in the next ten days. Barry Kreisberg, stellar forward, has been handicapped all week by a severe cold, while Don McNary, ace center and tallest man on the team, is still having trouble with a weak ankle. On the brighter side of the picture, however, is the splendid performance of a quartet of reserves in this week's practice sessions.

Ed Gustafson, a regular on the 1942-43 championship team, who was late turning out for the team after the football season, has rounded into shape and appears ready to take his place among the starting five. Bob Jackson, a reserve on the 1942-43 team, and two newcomers, Art Cerra and Howie Hoffman should be great assets to the team if their improved play of late is indicative of what to expect from them in the future.

The Zahnmen will have to play their best brand of ball to make a clean sweep of their next five games. In three of these games they will face some of the better teams of the country. Duke, a Southern Conference foe, has been victorious in seven out of eight frays to date, with such clubs as Virginia, Florida and powerful Hanes Hosley among their victims. Their only loss was to an excellent University of Tennessee five.

Navy, reportedly one of the best quintets in the East has triumphed handsily over Hampden-Sydney and William and Mary in their only contests. The Middies are coached by Ben Carneyale, mentor of North Carolina's Eastern NCAA champs last year.

As for Georgetown, coach Elmer Ripley has already said all that is necessary. In calling his Hoya five the greatest team in the country, Ripley may have exaggerated, for in their first five games at home the Hilltoppers haven't looked once like the greatest in the nation. They have shown, however, that they are able to give any team a good stiff battle when the chips are down.

Maryland doesn't rate as a top-notch team, but they are expected to offer plenty of opposition, inasmuch as they will be the first outfit to present a formidable zone defense against the Colonials. The Old Liners will be the first Southern Conference squad to be met by the Buffmen this season in their quest to recapture the loop title, which they have never fully been able to defend.

Council To Rule IM Play

By MANUEL AVANCENA

● REALIZING THE need for a law-making body to enforce the rules by which the intramural sports are played, Joe Krupa and William Meyers, faculty members of the Intramural Sports Department, created the Intramural Council last month.

A provision in the constitution under which the intramural program was founded provides for this body. And, the theory that a constitution is void without a governing unit to uphold it, gave the Intramural Council a purpose.

The primary purpose of the intramural program is to encourage the practice of democratic principles with the idea that students shall run their own affairs, always aiming at the highest in moral and ethical peaks. And, in general, the program is striving "To place the student body of G. W. U. in an environment that is physically wholesome, mentally stimulating and satisfying and socially sound, and to provide a program of activities that will meet the nature, needs and capabilities of the students."

Another problem that has been facing the Intramural Program throughout the semester is the difficulty in securing officials for the activities. After much deliberation and many suggestions from the student body the problem was dealt with and a plan was worked out by the Council.

Selection of officials will be by the members of the law-making body through contact with captains and managers of the numerous teams registered for intramural sports competitions. Awards in recognition of service in intramural sports will be offered as an incentive to increase the staff of game officials.

In mid-December, the Council handed down its first official decision when it sustained a protest submitted by the Back Booth touch football team. This ruling by the interpreters of intramural rules emphasized the worth and necessity of a group to review protests on questionable decisions of referees.

After a re-play of the game under protest was ordered, the championship picture in the Independent League was completely changed when the Back Boothers turned the tables on the Dodgers who had beaten them in the game that had been stricken from the league standings by the legislative body.

Members of the newly-instituted Intramural Council are John Donahue and Craig Brown from the fraternities, Art Pritchard and Dave Feldman representing the Independents, Agar Jaicks and Henry Augiewicz, selected from the Veteran Club, Larry Strickland representing the student organizations, and Mr. William Meyers, faculty advisor and aide to the group.

PIDE Will Initiate Four At Banquet

● INITIATION OF four new members into Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, will take place Sunday afternoon at the Kenesaw, Lois Lord, president, announced this week.

New initiates are Dorothy Henry, Rusty Schiff, and Larry Woodward, who were tapped at the Homecoming dance, and Mervin Lewis, who was tapped before entering the Navy.

Tournament Slated

● JOE KRUPA, Intramural Sports Director, announces that, with the nearness of final exams, all contestants entered in the bowling tournament must be present at the Y. M. C. A. alleys on Friday, January 10, at 7:30 P. M. He adds that all those not present will be automatically eliminated.

TDX Meets PiKA In Prelim Tonight

● IN A PRELIMINARY game to the Colonial-Merchant Marine tilt tonight at Tech Gym, Theta Delta Chi is slated to engage the Pi Kappa Alpha quintet. Game time is 7:15.

An overflow of top-notch material turned out for the intramural basketball teams this year with the result that the University's Intramural Sports Department has made arrangements to have intramural teams play in the prevarity game hour.

Cantwell Pacemaker In Scoring

Marksman To Meet Quantico

● WITH SIX GAMES having been played, Bill Cantwell, Don McNary, and Capt. Jim Rausch have taken the lead in the Colonials' scoring race.

Coach Zahn is in a very fortunate position, since every man on the squad is a potential high scorer, and no one man is counted upon to contribute heavily to the team's attack, as has been the case with most Colonial fives in the past. Cantwell's twenty-one points against Mount St. Marys advanced him from third place to first among the leading point makers.

The complete summary of the first six games follows:

Name	g	fg	f	ft	pts	avg
Cantwell	6	27	6	14	60	10.00
McNary	6	25	8	18	58	9.67
Rausch	6	19	18	26	56	9.33
Kreisberg	6	18	4	8	40	6.67
Haltheock	6	15	5	9	35	5.83
McNiff	6	10	7	12	27	4.50
Shapiro	6	10	4	10	24	4.00
Small	6	9	5	12	23	3.83
Lamon	4	5	4	4	14	3.50
Gustafson	6	3	4	6	10	1.67
Wolf	4	4	2	8	8	2.00
Jackson	4	4	0	1	8	2.00
Cerra	4	3	0	2	6	1.50
Hoffman	2	0	0	0	0	0.00

Key to abbreviations: G: games; FG: field goals; F: foul shots made; FT: foul shots attempted; PTS: total points; AVG: average points per game.

● THE COLONIAL rifle team, under the tutelage of Frank Parsons, will open its season against the Quantico Marines at the school range, in the basement of Corcoran Hall on January 17.

Since the South Atlantic Rifle League is still a wartime casualty, the riflemen are afforded the length of this season to reorganize. In past years, the University squads have placed in the top ten of the fifty or sixty teams competing in the National Rifle Meet, which will also re-open next year, and in 1938 the Buffmen won the

KA, TDX, Dodgers Nab All-U Honors

• THREE MEMBERS OF the champion Kappa Alpha football team gained places on the All-University grid team chosen by the sports staff of The Hatchet to lead all other organizations in total players picked on the first team. The Runnerup Theta Deltis and Dodgers placed two apiece while Phi Alpha and the Back Booth boys placed one each on the 1946 All-U team.

The team, the first chosen since 1943, presents to the University the cream of the crop as far as intramural footballers were concerned and the choice of seven men from the top three teams in the school was indicative of the almost complete domination which KA, TDX, and the Dodgers held over their opponents.

Unanimously chosen as the outstanding intramural gridster and named as honorary captain was little Norm Dancy, the KA quarterback and triple-threatener who spelled dynamite for opponents whenever he had his hands on the ball.

He received tough competition, however, from Dino Brugioni, TDX back, Dave Feldman, the Dodger passing star, and Art Scatalini, the lithe speedster from Back Booth, all of whom missed by one vote of being unanimous choices.

The other unanimous choice for the team was Bob Tull of KA, nominated for the center position on the dream team. Bill Kelly of TDX and Al Grenadier of Phi Alpha won first string berths at the end positions while Tom Peters of KA and Calvin Salzberg of the Dodgers filled out the team at the tackle slots.

The KA's also placed two men on the second team, Orchie Bennington at one of the backfield positions and Howard Vorderbruegge at end. Thompson, Back Booth; Margolles, Draper Hall; and Kolker, Phi Alpha completed the second string backfield.

Badminton Title Playoff Saturday

• TRIUMPHANT over a series of strong opponents in the Intramural Badminton Tournament, Joe Giovacchini and Howard Vorderbruegge will meet Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium for the All-University Championship.

To reach the playoff berth, Joe Giovacchini defeated Oliver Shaw 16-13 and 15-7. Right after his victory over Shaw he swamped Irving Title 12-0 and 15-1.

Meanwhile Vorderbruegge was earning his playoff position by overrunning Jordan Himelfarb 15-2 and 15-4, and turning back Frank Carr in two straight 15-1 victories, 15-2 and 15-5.

Move It Over!

• Concerning the Georgetown basketball team, Rome Schwagel, Hoya mouthpiece, has made his familiar annual statement to the press: "Wait till next year."

Tickets On Sale For Games

• ONE HUNDRED tickets at $1.20 each are now on sale at the box-office in Lisner Auditorium for the Colonials' first Southern Conference basketball tilt of the season. The game will be played at College Park against the University of Maryland on Friday night, January 10.

Tickets for the Georgetown game on January 13 at Uline Arena are also on sale at the Lisner box-office at $1.20, $1.80, and $2.40 per ticket. Since this is to be Georgetown's home game, G. W. student activity cards will not be honored for this attraction.

Those students wishing to secure tickets to the four G. W. home games at Uline Arena for their friends may also purchase them in blocks of four (one ticket to each game) at the Lisner boxoffice.

The attractions to which these tickets are valid include G. W. vs. Maryland, Feb. 10; G. W. vs. Georgetown, Feb. 13; G. W. vs. Duke, Feb. 22; and G. W. vs. Virginia, Feb. 27.

Mr. Parsons points out that this year's team is inexperienced and that a new set up has been initiated since the squad dropped out of existence in 1943.

The team is composed of eighteen men, who have been working out every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

They are scheduled to meet Georgetown, Maryland, Naval Academy with tentative matches with Carnegie Tech, V. M. I., V. P. I., and West Point.

in the affirmative. The average professional football player, however, is lucky to last more than five years in the game, and could at any time suffer an injury which would handicap him for life. In other sports the average playing careers might be slightly longer, but the facts remain that the young man who abandons a college education for professional sports is usually not prepared to earn his living in any other field after his playing days are over.

Not only are playing careers short and chances of permanent injury great, but also the percentage of athletes who reach the "big money" class is very small. Thus, most of them are unable to save enough money to depend on when their active sports careers are ended.

It is evident that the death knell of collegiate sports is being sounded by this unwarranted invasion of the college campus by professional interests.

This week the National Collegiate Athletic Association will hold its regular meeting in New York and will discuss, among other topics, the manner in which collegiate sports have gotten out of the hands of the colleges and under the control of gamblers.

It is imperative that, at this meeting, an understanding be reached between the NCAA officials to issue an ultimatum to the various professional interests, stating that our colleges and universities are not to be used as one or two year proving grounds for the "play for pay" ranks.

dren. But when you see him at The Food Shoppe tonight, his fears will be quitted, for today he, too, is taking the oath of allegiance.

Their children, Judith, who is ten, and Eve, who is nine, are examples of the typical American youngster, with perhaps something more than usual in the way of good manners and intelligent observation. Judith is given to books and radio programs, and blonde-tressed Eve confesses shyly that she has already captured the hearts of five of her third-grade cohorts.

During the Christmas holidays The Food Shoppe underwent a face-lifting which has Arthur and Polly beaming with proprietary pride. If you haven't yet made acquaintance with this quaint and pleasant and cheerful establishment, you'll find both Arthur and Polly awaiting you, with friendly hospitality, for tomorrow morning's breakfast.

DPE to Present Speaker Tuesday

• NEXT SPEAKER-meeting of Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity, will be held in Columbian House next Tuesday, at 8:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Mr. Everett Bellows, a graduate of the George Washington University, and currently Executive Officer of the Foreign Service Division of the State Department. Mr. Bellows will speak on the Foreign Service field and other opportunities available in the State Department.
